SCHOOL DISTRICT 88 Secretary-Treasurer Ted Wells backed by statistics on school costs and population increase. See story below.

No frills on referendum

BY JOE CUNNINGHAM

Take it from Ted Wells, there are no frills on the $3-214,300 School District 88 referendum. If it doesn't pass, schools in Terrace and Thornhill will be on a split shift in 1969.

Taxpayers vote on it Saturday. It covers a three-year building program of 68 classrooms, 4 activity rooms and six libraries, plus equipment.

School District 88 Secretary-Treasurer Wells put the issue squarely.

"We need 68 new classrooms. If the referendum fails, we will be that many classrooms short."

"There would be only one course open to us, to go on shift," Wells said.

Surprisingly, passage of the referendum won't add dollars to the tax bill.

Wells cited statistics showing that previous referendum programs dating back to 1956 varied between 4.7 and 5.1 mills of the annual tax tab.

Wells refused to predict it, but there is a possibility that the school taxes could go down again, depending on application of new Provincial Government formula for sharing education costs.

Last year, school tax rate dropped some 4 mills.

Behind the referendum is the steady growth rate of Terrace and the anticipated sharp rise in Stewart population when the Granduc mine becomes operative.

In 1963, school district had a total student enrolment of 2500. Five years later (1968) it stands at 4,325 with 3,240 of that figure in Terrace.

Wells' projected student enrolment for 1969-70 is 5,580, including 600 in the first kindergarten classes provided by the local school board.

The school district treasurer stressed that school board operates "without frills".

"Our costs are way below the provincial average," he said.

He cited average provincial per pupil cost of $520, compared with the Skeena-Cassiar average of $450.

Wells also said school construction costs were lower here than in the lower mainland, despite a higher cost of living in the Pacific Northwest. He said the school district had pioneered schools without basements and new construction methods to keep costs low.

He also revealed that Department of Education had increased School District figures for equipment.

"We have no frills, only essentials," he said.

This town of ours takes a lot of knowing. There's one guy for instance who runs a very big business indeed, the kind of operation where hard guys and not Milquetoasts survive. So when he phoned last week we expected strictly business and maybe even a blast.

Instead he asked a couple of questions about MRS. FLORENCE GREAVES, the widow who lost her home in the fire. Four minutes and thirty seconds later he was in the office with a cheque for $250 and absolute insistence that his name be kept out of it. Our town's like that, at times, and we like it.

AN EDITORIAL

We need classrooms

Apathy and ignorance have no place Saturday when voters will be asked to approve a $3-214,300 referendum to build and equip new classrooms in our school district.

It is a realistic referendum, reflecting a rapid growth rate in Terrace where the school population has nearly doubled in five years.

It is a no-nonsense referendum, asking voters to approve the money needed to accommodate the children of this area. It does not involve added tax burden.

The alternative, if the referendum should be lost either through apathy or ignorance, would be a mounting operational cost to cover introduction of a shift system requiring more teachers to provide less hours of education.

It is an alternative which we do not expect to face. Terrace is a growing community whose schools are a major asset.

Our school expansion needs are real. We expect the voters Saturday to give a firm endorsement to the referendum.

Terrace responds to widow's plight

Terrace opened its heart and its purse strings to a widow with seven children after a fire destroyed their home.

Plight of Mrs. Florence Greaves was reported in last week's Herald. Fire destroyed her home at 2708 Keefer. Also burnt were all clothing, furniture and personal possessions.

Offer of help came in quickly after the Herald story.

First indication of Terrace's response to her plight came Friday night when donations of clothes, money, furniture, bedding and dishes were dropped off by volunteers Bruce Baird and Art McCann. Their wives, Pat Baird and Shirley McCann also collected.

Mrs. Greaves broke down and cried when she got home.

"I was really as bad as when the fire hit," she said. "I didn't expect anything."

She has asked the Herald to extend her thanks to all the people who offered help.

Mrs. Greaves and her seven youngsters are living temporarily in a one-room dwelling in Thornhill. But they have the offer of a new house at a substantial price reduction from a local realtor.

They'll be moving in in early January.

Terrace reaction was spontaneous when the story broke.

Businesses and individuals phoned in to offer help.

One woman didn't sleep Wednesday night. While her family slept, she picked out everything she hadn't used in six months to give to the Greaves family.

She even bought six new toothbrushes for the youngsters.

People gave bedding, clothes, shoes, toys, tinned foods, and home preserves.

The clothing was something special. "Everything was so clean," Mrs. Greaves said. "It wasn't as if they were just throwing it out."

SATURDAY POLLS FOR ELECTION, REFERENDUM

Terrace goes to the polls Saturday to elect three aldermen.

And Terrace and Thornhill voters will cast their ballots on a $3,214,300 referendum and elect two of five candidates to school board.

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Terrace Community Centre and also at Mills Memorial Hospital. An advance poll was held Monday.

Contesting Terrace Municipal election are incumbent alderman Edna Cooper, semi-retired contractor Jake Peters, oil dealer Arnold Best and obstetrician Dr. J. R. Nicholson.

School trustee posts will be sought again by incumbents Keith Tucker and Nancy Orr. Also contesting the election are former Terrace councillor V. C. G. Jolliffe, Thornhill millworker Harold E. Wyatt and plumber James Caruso.

Five seek seats on school board

Five candidates will seek two trustees seats in the school board election, December 7.

Incumbents Keith Tucker and Nancy Orr both seek re-election for the two-year terms.

Also seeking trustees seats are Victor C. G. Jolliffe, Jim Caruso and Harold E. Wyatt.

Keith Tucker, a trustee for the past nine years and a member of the school planning committee for the past two years said he would like to follow through on the work he has been doing.

"We are in the final phases of the construction and change over with the Caledonia Senior Secondary School and with the integration of Stewart School system. A site for a new elementary school or the expansion of one will have to be dealt with in the next two or three months," Tucker said.

"These are things I have been intimately connected with and would like the opportunity to follow through on them."

Tucker said he was in favor of the referendum which ratepayers will be asked to approve December 7.

"He said one of the main chores of school boards is to prepare referendums. We have gone over this one thoroughly and it is a good one."

Nancy Orr who won a one year term on school board in 1967 is seeking a second term.

"It has been an extremely interesting year," she said.

"There are so many areas to be covered and the work so varied and complicated that I feel I have been serving an apprenticeship. I hope to be able to continue to learn and to contribute to the operation of the District," she said.

Jim Caruso, making his eighth bid for a seat on the school board, said "I was employed by the school board for many years and saw how the bottom worked and I would like to see how they work at the top."

He said he didn't have any definite things in mind as far as the present school board operation.

"Things have changed so much in ten years that I would have to see how the board works before proposing any changes."

In regard to the referendum, Caruso said he would go along with them if they really need the schools but if they don't, he said, "then I don't think we should be spending that much money."

Victor Jolliffe, a candidate for mayor in 1967 after serving four years on municipal council, is also making a bid for a seat on the school board.

"In the past few years I've been connected with municipal affairs," he said, "but the School Board has always been a bit of a mystery to me."

"I would like to have the opportunity to see how the board functions, looking at it from the inside, and to get to know where the money is spent and why," Jolliffe said.

"On the referendum," he said, "I have not heard a word as to what the school board wants the three and a half million dollars for and with only six days to the vote, I'd say they have to do some pretty fast talking to get that amount of a referendum passed."

Thornhill resident, Harold E. Wyatt, is making his first bid for trustee.

He said, "I've been actively involved in a number of orga-

Truck hits ice patch, plunges into river

A Prince Rupert youth is believed to have drowned when a panel truck plunged into the Skeena Friday evening.

Missing and presumed drowned is Rodney Garrioch, 17, a passenger.

Two others escaped from the 1959 Chevrolet truck which went out of control after hitting an icy spot and went into the river about 40 miles west of Terrace.

Randolph Angus Younghusband, 18-year-old driver of the vehicle, and Roderick Allan Schwab, aged 18, also from Prince Rupert were able to get to shore after getting out of the vehicle which was submerged in 12 feet of water.

RCMP retrieved the truck Saturday afternoon but a search is still being conducted for the missing youth.

PAT BOYLE, sales manager for Terrace International Truck & Equipment, was elected 1969 president of Terrace and District Chamber of Commerce Monday. Completing the slate are 1st Vice-president, Stanley G. Patterson, district manager of B.C. Telephone Company; 2nd vice-president, William G. Milliken, accountant, Rose, Gale & Co., and treasurer, Harold Zell, manager of the Toronto-Dominion bank.

Systems 'go' for Grey Cup on television

All systems were go Saturday when the Pacific Northwest saw its first-ever live television, the 1968 Grey Cup.

And even rabid Calgary fans had their sorrows eased by the clarity of both video and audio.

Only fault in the telecast was a series of sound bloopers which B.C. Tel Manager Stan Patterson said came from the network.

Both B.C. Tel and CFTK Television said they received nothing but compliments from pleased football fans after the broadcast.

Live television will not be a normal part of local life until next year when, after rigorous tests by B.C. Tel, who are building the microwave link from Prince George, and their customer, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

According to Patterson, Saturday's telecast was a spit and shoestring operation.

B.C. Tel crews worked nights to improvise equipment. Two days of equipment needed for Saturday's telecast only reached Terrace Monday morning.

Patterson gave high praise to B.C. Tel plant supervisor Stan Miller. "He did an awful lot of work on it," Patterson said.

CFTK technicians also made a major contribution to the telecast. Led by John Nance, two snowmobiles went up Copper Mountain at 2 a.m. to chip ice off the antenna and make final preparations.

B.C. Tel cuts Alaska rates

B.C. Tel reduced rates on calls between Terrace, Kitimat and Kamano and points in southeast Alaska (Nov. 30) the B.C. Telephone Company announced.

The new rates come into effect in conjunction with the completion of a new primary toll centre in Terrace. The toll centre went into operation Saturday at 11:01 p.m. replacing the Kitimat centre.

This new centre will provide long distance services for all three communities as well as other areas now homed on Prince Rupert.

B.C. Telephone said the result will be reductions in rates on all traffic between Kitimat, Terrace and Kamano and southeast Alaska.

Little sees '69 blacktop for highway

"All bridges between here and Hazelton have been completed to specification and it is my hope that crew will go ahead with hardtopping that section of Highway 16 in the Spring," Skeena MLA Dudley G. Little told members of the Chamber of Commerce.

This was one of many questions put before Skeena MLA at Monday night's meeting of the Chamber.

Little said that the contract had been let for this section of Highway 16 to be surfaced with crushed rock and pulva mix.

"By Spring, if engineers find the crushed rock surface has settled well enough, pulva mix could be followed by hard-top."

Little commented on the value of a recent close communication between himself, the Chamber and the Municipal Council whereby the government had dropped the possibility of closing Skeena-view Hospital. "Instead," he said, "Tenders will be called next month for dormitories at the new Vocational School."

Studies are being made for the most economical crossing of the Nass River, Little said in answer to the question of continuation of the road north.

He mentioned the Kalum and Tyee bridges and said, "I hope we will find money at the next session for replacing these bridges."

Stumpage rates was another problem Skeena MLA was "well aware of" and confident that the government would "come up with something."

On regional district question Little felt, "B.C. should be cut into fewer and larger regional districts, making it better for all taxpayers to share the load."

The MLA for Skeena agreed that a road should be built on the North side of the Skeena River. "The sooner we can get rid of the ferries the better," he said.

Speaking of the Government giving $50-50 help with the Smethers Ski Resort road Little said, "There is no reason why Terrace could not get the same help."

He pointed out the progress in the area in the past year and in the session that opens on January 23 he said, "I hope to finalize several projects when I am down, and will keep you posted."

Fred C. Mackay, Commercial representative for B.C. House in San Francisco, who is being transferred to London, England and W. J. Bayard Palmer, Executive Research officer with the Bureau of Economics and Statistics, while on a tour of the area, were guests at the Monday night meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

CAR ACCIDENTS HIGH

Speeders, gawkers, boozers blamed

Speeders, gawkers and boozers keep your car insurance rates high in this part of British Columbia.

Those were the three categories of local motorists singled out by RCMP Corporal John Lawson in a Safe Driving Week (December 1-7) statement. He didn't specifically use those labels.

Lawson, in charge of the RCMP highway patrol, will be watching for all three. And he announced that RCMP will set up roving road blocks this week to try to curb the anticipated increase in highway accidents over Christmas.

"Down south they are called sniffling stations," he said, "but we prefer the term 'roving road blocks'."

The Terrace-Kitimat-Prince Rupert triangle has one of the highest car insurance rates in British Columbia.

While inflated cost of car repairs is a contributing factor, main cause is the amount of accidents.

Corporal Lawson revealed that to October 31 this year, the traffic toll had already passed the 1967 total.

Damages have been estimated at $221,050 from 317 accidents. Sixty-three people have been injured and nine killed.

Lawson cited three types of drivers as the main causes for accidents in this area. They are:

• SPEEDERS, including the driver who keeps to the speed limit but maintains the same speed in snow or ice. They apply the brakes at the intersection on snow or ice and can't stop.

• GAWKERS, gazing away at that Beautiful Highway 16 or 25 scenery and not paying attention to driving.

• BOOZERS, including drivers who are not necessarily impaired but whose reactions are slowed down too much to handle an emergency.

Around the town

Mr. and Mrs. Pam van Heek of 4513 Sparks left Monday by plane for a two week vacation in California.

Mrs. Keith Tucker has returned from the south where she spent 18 days in the Centennial Ward in Vancouver General hospital receiving treatment.

Mrs. Albert Reed and daughter Linda are returning today from Red Deer, Saskatchewan where they attended the graduation exercises of Mrs. Reed's son Jim into the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Mrs. Lil Butler of Erickson in the Kootenays has moved to Terrace to make her home with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Butler on Olson. She celebrated her birthday on November 27 with her sister, Mrs. Sid Sheasby, their first birthday together since she was four years old.

APPOINTMENT

HANS P. CAULIEN

Mr. David S. Miller, manager of Thornhill Realty Ltd., Terrace, wishes to announce the appointment of Mr. Hans P. Caulien as General Manager of Thornhill Realty Ltd. Mr. Caulien came to Thornhill Realty Ltd. from Kamloops, B.C., and has been manager of the Kitimat office for the past two years. As General Manager, Mr. Caulien will be serving in a supervisory capacity, and is expected to visit Terrace and area on a regular weekly basis.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pierce attended the graduation of their son Douglas on Monday in Red Deer, Saskatchewan. Doug graduated into Royal Canadian Mounted Police Service. Also graduating was John Charles Oman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Oman of 8601 Eby. The Omans were unable to attend the graduation.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Barton, Betty and Susan, of 2707 Skeena will be leaving on December 14 for a three-week vacation in the West Indies. They will spend Christmas in St. Lucia and New Years in Barbados.

The Terrace Chamber Singers would like to extend an invitation to anyone interested in music and singing to join them on Monday nights. They practice from 8 until 9:30 in Riverside School, just behind the Royal Canadian Legion Hall. For further information phone 635-6473 after 6 p.m.

Gilbert J. Touche, who was a resident of Terrace in the years 1953-1956, writes renewing subscription and passes on good wishes to his Terrace friends. He also says "the reason why I am writing to you is that my Canadian-born daughter of 16 wishes to find a pen pal in Terrace who would be interested in exchanging letters with her on a common interest basis. My daughter is mainly interested in horses, but naturally has other interests too". Her address is Birgit Touche, Hallebovagen 8, Lindome, Sweden.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Turner left last Friday to make their home in Smithers. Mr. Turner, who is a nephew of Mrs. Sid Sheasby, has been working with the B.C. Telephone Company here for three months. He has now taken a position with the B.C. Forestry in the Bulkley Valley town.

Morris Wightman is at present a patient in Vancouver General Hospital. Accompanied by Mrs. Wightman he left by plane for the south on Tuesday, November 26.

Knox United Church Women's annual Christmas tea and bazaar was a successful affair last Saturday afternoon in the church hall. Many called during the afternoon and were received at the door by Mrs. George Keenleyside and Mrs. William Keenleyside.

POSTMASTER DUMMA WITH GREETING CARD.

Mail now for Xmas, Postmaster advises

Terrace Postmaster Bob Dummer is sending out his Christmas cards early this year.

They're addressed to Terrace and Thornhill residents and they carry an appeal to send out their Christmas greetings earlier—like now.

That way, friends and relatives can find the return address.

That return address is the major problem since Terrace abandoned the old post-office box system for home delivery, and home addressing last September.

Postmaster Dummer is a little bit worried about the expected Christmas rush of mail at the post office.

"We are sending out cards asking people to mail early so that out of town friends and relatives will have an opportunity to correctly address their cards and letters," he said.

The Post Office would like to have all out of town mail in by December 9.

Theatre evening 'smashing'

By Gale Wastle

The Terrace Little Theatre held a Christmas Workshop Saturday (November 30) at our newly acquired clubhouse. In the past we have gathered in individual homes of members, and it is a real pleasure to have a regular clubhouse.

Flora Brulink was in charge of all arrangements for the Workshop and Fergal Kamp was M.C. Lorren McCall, who directed our last play and who was looking forward to sitting back and being entertained, was met at the door and nabbed for last minute lighting changes.

The evening was dedicated to Paul Fenger, who was in attendance. Paul has missed several of the last productions due to illness. One uninvited guest was Ferdinand the Fly, who made a nuisance of himself flitting dangerously near actor's open mouths, perching on scripts, and being generally obnoxious. He was the first to arrive and probably the last to leave.

The Workshop commenced with a fairly offbeat, very amusing mod Christmas story entitled "Yes Santa, there is a Virgin-la", written by Richard Needham, the East's answer to Eric Nicol.

The final scene from Shaw's "Dark Lady of the Sonnets" was performed, followed by Shakespearean bits, the latter consisting of scenes from "Twelfth Night", "Romeo and Juliet", and "MacBeth".

Several members of the group did a scene from "Murder in a Cathedral" by T.S. Elliot, the scene preceding Thomas Becket's return to England after his exile in France. There were a couple of vocal selections, and the very popular, very funny story, "A Child's Christmas in Wales" was read, complete with Welsh accent.

One highlight of the evening was a playlet by Terrace's George English, entitled "What to Do About Columbus".

WESTERN VIEW OF NEW CALEDONIA HIGH SCHOOL.

Caledonia nears completion

New Caledonia Secondary School is rapidly taking shape. Architect Alex Inselberg expects students from Skeena Secondary to move into the new building in late January.

Grades 10, 11 and 12 will move to the new school. Skeena Secondary will then become a junior high.

The late January opening could coincide with the Canadian Education Showplace in Toronto, Jan. uary 23-25) when Inselberg's plans and designs for the $1,671,971 building will form part of a display of contemporary school architecture.

Despite low cost of $18.46 per square foot compared with an average $22 for average school building, the Caledonia school has been designed to keep pace with advanced educational techniques.

Heart of the school, according to architect Inselberg, is a resource centre involving a library, study cubicles, and visual aids.

Provision has been made for closed circuit TV. The building also includes a seminar room with seating for 120, and a series of classrooms which are separated by moveable walls to give a large lecture room effect when needed.

The school auditorium will also be of interest to the general public. Architect's design gives limited access to the hall for evening use. Audiences would pass directly into the auditorium without entering the school.

Entrance for students will be through a mud room to lockers before entering the school proper.

Architect Inselberg said he was very pleased with the progress of the school. He gave credit to school board members Dr. Ted Lee, Keith Tucker and Nancy Orr for their co-operation in the planning of the new high school.

Bastille Day, July 14, is a day of celebration in France.

WHAT DO I STAND FOR?

To finish progressive planning for an overall drainage and street improvement project. The first phase to start in 1969.

To follow through to its conclusion the construction of the overpass and extension of Greig Ave. To put an end for all time to the hazardous level crossing on Kalum St., and to relieve the increasing danger at the Kenny St. level crossing.

If elected I will be able to devote considerably more time to the pressing issues facing the municipality than those candidates who are committed to the operation of their business.

If elected I will work very closely with the municipal engineering department and I believe that my many years of experience on Road and Drainage construction could be of great benefit to the district.

Rumor has it that the senior high school students of the Terrace area will have their new school late in January. This is almost close enough to be a Christmas present.

Terrace is finally getting what the students want. A modern High School, worthy of their attendance. Apparently, the school is geared to the more progressive schools in B.C. There are facilities which far surpass the dreams of even the most skeptical minded persons. To all of you who don't think that the kids need fancy carpeted halls, elaborate Chem. labs, closed circuit T.V., or Language labs, I say Hnah Hnah Hnah! The Caledonia Senior Secondary School is a dream come true, or an answer to a prayer. The days of noisy, crowded halls, and inadequate facilities are nearly gone for the privileged Seniors.

The term, "Senior" means, a student in grade ten, eleven, or twelve. The term "Senior" means that the person concerned has gone to school for a minimum of nine years. (Some, as many as thirteen, but we won't say any more about them).

Good points about such a school include:

CHEM LABS: These modern Chem labs would put old classroom experimentation to shame. There would be such things as elaborate apparatus facilities, including, of course, miles and miles and miles of glass tubing, hundreds of beakers of all shapes and sizes, bunsen burners by the score, mercury pressure gauges, and vast amount of other equipment that only a Chemistry Major could figure out. Oh, yes, the high school (Skeena) has all the stuff, but it hasn't got enough of it. It hasn't got the room for it. It hasn't got a lot of the experimenting devices. It hasn't got a lot of things.

CLOSED CIRCUIT T.V.: Now we can see the latest in the soccer finals, in England - live, if you please. No, not really. These T.V. sets are for the purpose of giving involved lectures, or lessons which the teacher is not capable of giving. It would deal with sight revelation of such things as the miracle of birth, or the construction of an enormous building, or showing the students what a blueprint of the Whitehorse, or Parliament buildings looks like.

There is supposed to be a cafeteria. Good. Excellent. Wonderful! No more of this running over to the store three - quarters of the way through the last period in the morning, just to make sure that you will have a seat, when lunch time finally rolls around. A cafe right in our own school. How about that?

There are supposed to be carpets on the floors of the halls. This is also rather nice. No, I don't suppose that they are these deep pile acrylic fibre things that rich people have in their living rooms, but rather an indoor-outdoor type of thing. Very nice. Very quiet. These carpets will cut down on the noise of teehoppers out for their mid-morning stroll (If, indeed there be any teehoppers then . . .) or students with steel heels on their Voodoo Boots.

Yes, and there are a few more features which I could name if I knew what they were. A school like this in OUR little town; why, we shall become the Mecca for all students this side of Alyansh.

And speaking of Alyansh, another rumor has it that they are building a dormitory to accommodate those students who must live away from home in order to get their senior education. It will accommodate students from the Nass, Stewart, and The upper Skeena Valley. This should prove most interesting. Almost like a University . . . perhaps.

Skeena beats Lakelse for big league lead

Skeena Secondary Tsimshians opened up a comfortable lead in Senior Men's Basketball league when they beat Lakelse Motor Hotel 97-73 (November 26).

The win gives them a 10-3 won-lost margin over second place Lakelse who have a 7-5 record.

Tsimshians wonhandly Thursday with some inspired ball-filing by Rod Kluss and Bob Kester, earning five all-round the basket.

With a half-time lead of 65-26, Skeena coach Al Cameron brought in the subs in the second half with Dave Wadley impressing. Standout man for Lakelse was league scoring leader Dave Webster who scored 33 of Lakelse's 73 points, 23 of them in the Skeena Secondary overpowered Albert and McCaffery 92-68 in men's basketball league play (November 26).

Almacs lose to students

Rod Kluss started strongly for the students sinking the jump shots.

Rick Dakin who scored 27 points also was effective in squelching on Al and Mac come-back when he sank four consecutive shots.

Jack Stroet and Don McLeod sparked the attempted Al and Mac comeback when they only trailed 57-47 with 12 minutes left.

Terrace Terriers topple Alcan in third period

Terrace's hockey-playing Terriers made it three in a row (November 25) when they edged Kitimat Alcan 3-2 in Kitimat commercial league play.

The closely contested game saw Terrace take a 1-0 lead in the first period, Alcan comeback in the second to tie it 2-2, and the Terriers win it at the end of the third.

Terrier's first goal came when Jack Thomson found the net with an assist from Frank O'Brien.

Second period Terrace tally was a spectacular rush down the middle by big defenceman Al Pritchett who picked the puck up at his own goal-line took it the length of the ice, and put it in the net unassisted.

Martin O'Brien scored the winning goal in the third period with assists going to Robin Keays and Norm McFarland.

Kitimat goals were scored by Doug Farquhar and Ed Best.

2—In Memoriam

A Tribute to the late Helen Bell.
It was with great sorrow that we heard of Mrs. Bell's passing.
That she has gone to her well earned reward we all know.

Over the years she became known far and wide, not just as a friend in time of need, but as a very valued friend and neighbor. Not only was she a loving wife and mother to her own family, but a mother to,
and called Nanny, by many outside her family.

Joe and Helen's open-hearted hospitality was showered upon everyone who had the pleasure of entering their home. The coffee pot was always on and a meal or a bed always freely given.
John 15:12.

This is my commandment, that ye love one another as I have loved you.

Mr. & Mrs. B.W. McKilivinton (c19)

NEW DATSUN 1600 more than ever, the more-for-your-money cars three for the road The Datsun 1600 changed a lot of people's ideas about economy cars. It proved that a compact-sized, low-cost car can look good, give five hefty Canadians a quiet and comfortable ride, handle and perform like high-priced imports — yet still be economical to run and low on maintenance.

This year, the new Datsun 1600s are loaded with more new ideas and features to make them even better and safer than ever before! We also added a new model.

Now you have a choice of three Datsun 1600s: the sporty new 2-door, a deluxe 4-door and deluxe family wagon.

engineered for safety The Datsun 1600 is one economy car that didn't skimp on safety. To start with, Datsun has a specially designed impact-absorbing body to protect passengers inside the car.

And the Datsun 1600 sedans have a remarkable all-independent suspension system that makes the car amazingly nimble, easy to handle and gives a smooth, level ride over the roughest Canadian roads.

Disc brakes up front, now with the double protection of twin master cylinders, stop you sure and straight. Other standard safety equipment: a life saving collapsible steering column, headrests, belt/shoulder harnesses, 4 headlights, heavily padded dash and interior fittings, plus quite a few more.

Datsun 1600 is probably the safest economy car you can own.

96 hp, 100 mph, 30-35 mpg Datsun's got safety and performance.

In its price class, only Datsun 1600 gives you a high-performance 1600 cc overhead cam engine that's good for 96 HP and 100 MPH. It means great pick up and all-day cruising at 70 MPH. And all the time you'll get 30-35 miles per gallon.

Go for the butter-smooth 4-on-the-floor with stick or the 3-speed Borg-Warner automatic — either way you've got a lot of fun-driving ahead of you!

quiet and comfortable The Datsun 1600 has "windups up" ventilation. Fresh air streams in through adjustable ventilators on the dash, circulates, and stale air is automatically extracted through rear vents. The instant-acting heater/defroster keeps you warm and your windows clear through the coldest Canadian winters. You get a quiet, comfortable ride in a Datsun!

We've got 150 Datsun dealers coast-to-coast in Canada and $1,000,000 in parts to back you. There are more than 700 Datsun Dealers in North America — so you're never far from service. Test drive Datsun 1600 at your nearest dealer soon!

Less cheers, more issues

The School board referendum and a strongly contested election for school trustees have overshadowed this year's municipal elections.

In an off-year with the mayoralty not at stake, interest is less keen. The four candidates for the three aldermanic seats have been unanimous in their endorsement of the policies of the 1967 Municipal Council. Such unanimity is flattering to the Council, but hardly gives voters much of a choice.

We have to agree that the achievement of the current Council is very high indeed. Its affairs are conducted in a businesslike manner. The community's image stands higher with the Provincial and Federal Government's than in the past.

Yet without minimizing the work of the current Council, this community has a very long way to go. We still walk in the mud of unpaved streets. Our parks are, in the main, undeveloped. The new industry which our community needs for its future is still merely a myth.

Under these circumstances, it would appear to be an anomaly for candidates to give blanket endorsement to the present council, no matter how impressive its work has been. The council needs people with ideas and the dedication to spend long hours in the necessary study of the needs and problems of the community, and not merely a cheering section.

We trust that at least by the time of the all-candidates meeting, candidates will at least temporarily terminate their love affair with the present administration to give voters an opportunity to assess their programs and their potential as members of the 1968 Municipal Council.

Thank-you, B.C. Tel

B.C. Tel didn't make any money when it brought live television temporarily to Terrace for Saturday's Grey Cup football game. But it did make a lot of friends.

Reasonable estimates indicate that the live showing temporarily affected the efficiency of most businesses Saturday morning while the town took time out for its first-ever viewing of this traditional part of Canadian folk-lore.

Despite warnings that picture and sound would probably be similar to a bee bumbling in a bucket of mud, reception and audio were surprisingly good. Apart from the odd sound bloop, it was close to perfection.

That very perfection may raise the question: if they can do it for the Grey Cup, why can't we have live television in the area now? The answer is that B.C. Tel technicians beat their brains out to use stand-by equipment for the game, while they awaited more parts and the necessarily rigorous testing before live television becomes an accepted fact of Terrace life.

B.C. Tel isn't building a microwave communications network from Prince George directly for the people who live here. Their client is the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and its affiliate, CFTK. However, their decision to make that extra effort to show the game, coupled with the co-operation of CBC and TK, was a gesture that shows that even a big corporation can be human. It was appreciated.

Church 'democracy' on trial

A pioneer attempt to introduce to Canada the "participatory democracy" advocated by The Pope's Vatican II conference has sparked a row which may end in the law courts.

An article in the December Maclean's magazine charges that the man chosen to bring "participatory democracy" to Regina's Christ-The-King Parish has been fired, and that the church is now trying to drive him out of the province. It also suggests the provincial government is helping.

John F. Kippely, the 37-year-old father of three, was appointed the parish director of adult religious education in September last year. He says he and parish priest Father Emmett Mooney agreed the job should last for three years.

Eight months later Kippely, a lay theologian, was fired.

In the interim he had increased parishioner involvement in church affairs, partially via a series of wine-and-cheese parties. He had got parish council approval of coffee klatches after mass, a parish picnic and parish newsletter. Before any of these could happen, Father Mooney fired him. He says the reason was "for causing discord and dissension."

Up in arms over the fate of Kippely, a large slice of the parishioners circulated a protest petition. Kippely's request for intervention was turned down by Archbishop M.C. O'Neill, and Father Mooney refused to let provincial labour minister Lionel Codrre mediate in the dispute.

Father Mooney, having first said publicly that Kippely had been recalled to the institution of Lay Theology in San Francisco, later said Kippely was fired for "insolence" and wrote to a parishioner:

"Please God, the work will continue but never under John Kippely. He'd best pick up his marbles and go home as quickly and quietly as possible."

Kippely didn't. He launched a suit against the parish. He says he got a senior job with the provincial department of health, but three weeks later Health Minister Gordon Grant said the cabinet refused to confirm the appointment and Kippely was jobless again. The same day a lawyer who works for the parish offered to buy Kippely's house and pay him $2,000 provided he got out of the province by October this year, and stayed out.

Says Health Minister Grant Now: "I don't want him employed in the department. As far as I'm concerned he was never employed here."

Which, says Maclean's, seems to relegate Kippely to the status of a "non-person."

CANCER KILLS WINNIPEG (CP) — The city's annual health report shows cancer of the lung is still the leading cause of cancerous deaths in males. Most women with the disease die from cancer of the breast.

If gentlemen really preferred blondes, there wouldn't be a brunette left in six weeks.

Said the reluctant young man: "My girl and I are only half serious about getting married. She is and I'm not."

Now there's a helicopter that fits into a garage — which is another advantage they have over automobiles.

Never contradict your wife. It's only your word against thousands of hers.

Food-rationing seen for Canada of future

TRURO, N.S. (CP) — Dr. W.A. Jenkins, president of the Nova Scotia Agricultural College here, says food rationing could begin in Canada in the foreseeable future.

Dr. Jenkins said the world population is increasing at a geometric — doubling — rate, while food production increases at an arithmetical rate of only two per cent annually.

He said the world population will double to six billion by the year 2000 and will redouble by the year 2020.

The rate of starvation is getting progressively worse and, he says, the only hope for increasing food production is more scientific achievements, technological improvements, and advances in marketing processes.

"Agriculture will become the prestige profession and the demand for agriculturalists at home and abroad will increase."

Each 1968 graduate from his college was offered about four jobs, and next year's 400 graduates will have 2,400 jobs to choose from, he predicts.

Countries with a large percentage of their populations involved in agriculture are the backward countries, Dr. Jenkins said.

"The nation's standard of living is inversely proportional to the percentage of men required to produce food."

He said the United States only has seven per cent of its population in agriculture and Canada has 10 per cent, while China uses 87 per cent of its population to produce food.

Ask Ann Landers

Second date too soon to say you love her

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I came to America in 1963 from Europe. I knew very little English when I arrived but I can now speak well enough to communicate my ideas. I celebrated my 24th birthday by being sworn in as a United States citizen.

I have always been timid with girls but two weeks ago I got up my bravery and invited a girl to dinner. She is 20 and works in an office. On our second date I confessed my love for her. She became upset and said she would not see me again if I became serious. She enjoys me as a friend only and I am not to talk of love.

Please explain this. In Europe a girl likes to be told she is loved. Are American girls different? What advice do you have for a new American?

DEAR D: Don't bet your passport that what you feel for this girl is love. A fellow who hasn't had a date in five years could become infatuated with a fire hydrant.

I know of no country where it is smart to talk of love on a second date. Take out other girls. Ask this one out again in a few months if you are still interested. And cool it, Bub.

DEAR ANN: Keep telling those "so-in-love" dummies that when a woman marries a divorced man she marries his first family whether she likes it or not.

Chuck and I were "so in love," too. I heard so much about his rotten marriage that I was sure ours would be perfect. I knew all the things NOT to do.

Chuck made it clear that he was through with his ex-wife and the kids were her responsibility. All he had to do was pay alimony.

Two weeks after we married, his son broke his leg. Daddy had to take Junior to the hospital. Same story when his daughter had her appendix out. That started everything.

One fine day Chuck's ex announced she was marrying a man who didn't like children so we'd have to take the kids. What could I say? The boy likes me, the girl doesn't. Chuck takes Jr., hunting, fishing and to ball games. I stay home and fight with the girl.

It's nine years now and we have no children of our own. Chuck says we can't afford children. It's too late for advice. Just send me a membership to your "Old-Too-Soon-Smart-Too-Late Club." Thanks.

DEAR BON: You qualify. The membership blank is in the mail.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What can be done about relatives who don't know when to go home? I'm due at work at 7:00 a.m. This means I have to get up at 5:30. These people know my hours, yet they sit and sit and sit. If I don't get eight hours sleep I'm a wreck the next day. Last night I wanted to ask the clods to leave at 10 o'clock but my wife said no. They sat till 12:30. Please be the referee.

DEAR BEAT: It's stupid to allow inconsiderate people to rob you of badly needed rest. I see nothing wrong with announcing at ten o'clock, "I must be up at 5:30 a.m. so good night."

Teatime Topics

Tea, around the world

By JEAN SHARP
Canadian Press Women's Editor

Several countries make a ceremony of tea drinking far more elaborate than even the fussiest Canadian pot-warmer and second-counting steeper.

In Russia the traditional preparation is done in a samovar. It is a large copper boiler on legs. The water is kept hot around a central tube rising from the fire.

Russian hostesses quarter-fill tall glasses with very strong tea, then guests dilute it as they wish with water from the samovar, and season it with lemon.

In Tibet tea usually comes in bricks and is chipped off into a pot of cold water. It is boiled for an hour until it is black, then strained off into an upright cylinder to be mixed with salt, soda and a large piece of rancid butter. The mixture is churned thoroughly then often served with taamba, which is parched ground barley moulded into balls to be dipped in the tea and eaten.

Breakfast tea in Turkey is made in two pots, stacked like a drip coffee pot.

It is usually poured in the kitchen, not in front of guests. It is strained into elegant glasses and served with lemon. Guests are also offered small biscuits and cheese similar to cheddar. A guest who does not want a second serving places his spoon across the top of his empty glass.

The Tea Council of Canada says the traditional Japanese tea ceremony is supposed to take three years to perfect.

It must take place in a small tea-room approached by a path which, however short it is, represents an escape from the troubled world. The door to the room should be just three feet high, to be entered with head bowed in humility. Flowers are arranged symbolically to encourage peace and simplicity. Periods of silence are part of the ceremony.

Guests sit cross-legged on mats while the young lady selected to make and serve the tea begins the ceremony. First the utensils are arranged and cleansed. Finely-powdered tea is put in the tea bowl, the server pours boiling water over it, then whisks it with a small brush of finely split bamboo. Every movement has a religious meaning. The light green tea is served to the guests in lacquered bowls.

CELLIST PAUL OLEFSKY

Cellist Olefsky

Paul Olefsky, cellist, will be the featured artist at the second in a series of Alaska Music Trail concerts December 7 at Skeena Secondary School Auditorium.

Dance classes start at 68

OTTAWA (CP) — One sprightly 68-year-old woman thinks there is too much talk about the generation gap and not enough action.

Peggy O'Neill, a white-haired, tiny woman with the energy of a person half her age, would like to see an agency set up where older people can volunteer their services to the community.

She will retire in December after 42 years at the Ottawa General Hospital, first as a night supervisor in the nurses' residence and for the last 15 years as hospital receptionist.

But she has no intention of retiring from the community.

"I've got a nice, modern apartment and I would never go into a senior citizens' home," she said. "I would die. It's so sad — they are segregated in those homes."

Instead, Miss O'Neill will be busy with a new pastime — teaching dancing to 24 children aged 4 to 12 under the after-school Operation Achievement program.

The program provides lessons in music, art, ceramics and ballet as well as coaching in conventional subjects to help culturally-deprived children adjust to school, overcome shyness and improve their school work.

When Miss O'Neill heard that the project was looking for a dancing teacher, she offered her services. She has taught tap and folk dancing and a little ballet for 34 years, and her pupils have given shows throughout the city.

Misplaced pills can poison child

Headache tablets, cold remedies and other pain relievers can all bring welcome relief — but they can also poison a child.

Major causes of child poisonings also include household chemicals, pesticides and cosmetic products.

Child accident facts from the most recent publication of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show accidental poisonings of all types took the lives of 31 children under five years of age in one year.

Why did they die?

Purely and simply, the cause in nearly every instance was carelessness. Too often adults do not take the few seconds of time required to put pills away in the medicine cabinet, or household chemicals, garden sprays and other toxic substances out of reach.

Poisoning is one of the easiest home accidents to avoid, says the Council on Family Health in Canada, a non-profit organization established as a public service by members of the drug industry to work for improved home safety and family health.

Parents must fight a continual battle against carelessness. Never assume a bottle of pills or tablets atop a bedroom bureau or kitchen sink cannot be reached. Never leave medicine anywhere but in the medicine cabinet.

If mother is taking a headache pill when the telephone rings or a pot bubbles over on the stove, she should let the phone ring, let the contents of the pot burn. No telephone call or burned dinner is worth the risk of leaving medicines in reach of children.

Household chemicals, such as bleaches, detergents, soaps, cleansers, nail polish and after-shave lotions are also dangerous in children's hands and can be deadly if ingested.

Mother must never place any household cleaning fluids, soaps and other potentially poisonous materials under the sink or in cupboards near the floor. They should be placed on the top shelves of cupboards or locked up in lower storage areas.

Parents also must be aware of other substances which do not appear dangerous, but may prove fatal if swallowed. Ink, floor wax, kerosene, perfume, hair dye, insecticides and pesticides are among the many household items which can poison.

If an overdose of pills or ingestion of household chemicals occurs, telephone your doctor or hospital immediately, says the Council on Family Health.

Adjudicators appointed for local festival

Terrace Music Festival Committee announced (November 11) that the three adjudicators will be Mr. J. Archibald, Mr. A. Carlson and Mr. W. Hankinson.

Archibald, the piano vocal and choral adjudicator, is the secretary-treasurer of the B.C. Registered Music Teachers Association.

Carlson, band adjudicator, is president of the same organization.

Hankinson, adjudicator of speech arts, is well known in the area for his past performances as an adjudicator.

The Junior Mozart has been added as a new class for piano. There is also a new class for small Junior Vocal Ensembles.

PRESENTED PAINTING

HALIFAX (CP) — W. E. DeGarde, a marine artist, has presented a five-by-seven-foot painting of Christ calming the seas to the church of St. Mary the Virgin at Cow Head, a small Newfoundland fishing village. DeGarde said he spent three months preparing it to fill a bare space above the altar in the church in his wife's birthplace.

"Pauline Bunyans" busy planting spruce seedlings in the Prince Rupert Forest District.

Pauline Bunyans plant tree seeds

Paul Bunyan's domain is being invaded by women. For the first time in the history of the British Columbia Forest Service, crews of women are being employed to plant tree seedlings.

David Wallinger, of the reforestation division, reports that last spring crews of women planted approximately 145,000 two-year-old spruce seedlings over 220 acres in the Prince Rupert Forest District.

At the present time another group of "Pauline Bunyans" from Houston is busy planting hundreds of seedlings in the Mc Bride Lake area, approximately 40 miles west of Houston.

The ladies range in age from 19 to 49, and are paid the same rates as men, Mr. Wallinger said.

"And they ask for no special consideration on the job."

In past years, the reforestation officer said, seasonal planting labor had been recruited from logging crews laid off during spring break-up periods, and from transient sources. But the turn-over rate among such workers developed into "an alarming state."

Last spring Forest Ranger Carl Simmons, attached to the station at Telkwa, near Smithers, made some inquiries; learned that a number of women in the area were interested in such work; and soon organized two crews. The ladies were given several days of special training.

"The women were quick to learn," Mr. Wallinger continues,

"and within a very short time were planting almost as many seedlings per day as any man."

"And all reports indicate the quality of planting was excellent."

Forest Service officials were delighted with the new development. If the program continues to prove successful, and there's every indication it will, a greater degree of stability will be provided the planting program in many areas of the forest district.

For a number of years women have been employed in seedling nurseries throughout the province, but never as planting crews in the field.

Whether or not women will be employed as reforestation seedling planters in other parts of the province, Mr. Wallinger explained, depends largely on a variety of circumstances and general labor market conditions.

We asked Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Brown of Terrace what they like best about electric heating:

"We can go away without worrying about it."

"We take our holidays during the winter, so that's an important thing to us. Electric heating is completely trouble-free. We enjoy even, comfortable heat without the care of most other fuels. We're pleased with the economy, too."

18,000 homeowners have made electric heating B.C.'s hottest seller!

BEAT HIGH COST WITH A FIFTY-DOLLAR BILL!

Many homeowners are currently beating inflationary prices by doing most home improvement work themselves. No extra mortgage or bank loan is needed to paint a five-room house or apartment and today's modern do-it-yourself methods and materials make it a fun job for Saturday afternoons.

An economical all-latex system also helps any team of man and wife perform as well as a staff of professionals at the nominal cost of $10 for an average size room. This would be $50 for five rooms.

A leading paint manufacturer recommends the all-latex system which includes a corresponding enamel as a new adjunct to latex wall paint, the most popular house covering in recent years.

A two-bedroom home for example, with bath and kitchen running 10 x 10 feet, to 12 x 15 feet for a living-dining room, will use four gallons of latex wall paint and two gallons of enamel. Cost is approximately $45. Add $5 for roller, pan and brush, or save if you have them and a total of $50 completes the marvel of a new and lasting look. The palette of fade-resistant colors at the paint dealer is wide and versatile, to suit any taste or decorating scheme.

One tip, offered by the O'Brien Corporation, cautions do-it-yourselfers to make sure the surface to be painted is completely clean. Old soluble paints, grease and dirt should be washed off with soapy water and dried. Cracks and nail holes may be repaired with a water-mix patching plaster and rough surfaces should be sanded.

Latex enamel enjoys all the benefits of its older sister with a special function of painting wooden trim, furniture and cabinets. Odorless and easy to apply, it covers in one coat and dries in one hour.

Finally, the all-latex system is easy cleanup when the job is done. No mess or sticky substances remain to plague the housewife. All tools can be washed in soapy water

MANY FASHION-FACES for aluminum. Today's homeowner can choose siding in a wide range of textures and finishes. Smooth siding (bottom right), continues to be popular, while a strong styling trend is seen toward wood grain (top left), stucco (bottom left) and striated (top right).

ALUMINUM SIDING AND ACCESSORIES IN COLORS as well as white... new trend! This typical Cape Cod style home will assure its owners of years and years of easy care living. Among the low maintenance products used in its remodeling are aluminum siding, gutters and downspouts, shutters, soffit, and fascia. In addition, all window frames were covered with pre-finished aluminum, and aluminum combination windows with aluminum screening are to be installed.

REMODEL HOME EXTERIOR WITH EASE-OF-CARE IN MIND

Sparkling in the sun, the home renovated completely with low maintenance materials, such as aluminum, looks no different than its neighbors. But the difference exists and promises blessed relief for millions of homeowners tired of frequent painting and other maintenance.

The entire exterior now can be modernized with aluminum building products with finishes which can last for 15 years or more before re-painting may be required. They never blister, peel or rust, and being aluminum, the homeowner is never faced with the problems of rot or warping, so common with many other building products.

The Aluminum Association points out that siding is just one of the many exterior products available for minimum upkeep. Homeowners can now cover or replace every exterior product now on their house with long-lasting aluminum nails and other fastening devices which are rustproof and never stain the exterior of your home.

ALUMINUM SHUTTERS — These attractive, authentically styled products have the same durable finishes as aluminum siding. They lend a decorative touch to an otherwise plain exterior and are easily installed on any home.

ALUMINUM WINDOWS — When old windows require replacement or a modern picture window is to be installed the choice can be a modern aluminum window which requires little maintenance. Aluminum windows never rot or decay; they move freely in damp weather. Aluminum windows with factory applied finishes also are now available.

ALUMINUM SOFFIT — The underside of the roof overhang, called the soffit, has always been hard to paint and subject to blistering and peeling. New factory finished soffit goes right over this trouble spot and offers a solution to the problem of constant repainting.

ALUMINUM SCREENING — Non-rusting aluminum screen stays trim and flat in windows and door frames.

PINK 'N' PRETTY

A washer and dryer near the nursery will help the busy homemaker to conserve precious time and energy. On display recently the work-saving Versatronic Washer and Dryer, adjacent to the nursery, fit into an attractive color scheme of yellow, pink and white sparkled with bright shocking pink. Paisley wallpaper and towels picked up the yellow and pink tones; vinyl floor was pink.

The 1969 General Electric washer and dryer are ideal mother's helpers. For perfect washing of all fabrics, all you have to do is turn a dial and the Versatronic can be "tuned in" to any desired wash speed

White Siding — roof, dark color; windows, white; shutters, dark gray, black or dark green; door, yellow, slate, red, black or blue.

Light Green Siding — roof, dark color; windows, same as siding or white; shutters, dark green, slate, gray-green or white; door, orange, deep blue, slate or yellow-green.

Beige Siding — roof, deep brown; windows, same as siding or white; shutters, black, deep ochre (yellow-red) or any shade of brown; door, tan, orange, black, ochre, never a cool color.

Light Gray Siding — roof, deep slate, gray or charcoal; windows, same as siding or white; shutters, black, charcoal, deep blue-green; door, any color.

Yellow Siding — roof, deep brown, gray, black or white; windows, same as siding or white; shutters, black, deep ochre (yellow-red) or any shade of brown; door, black or any warm color.

Dark Siding — roof, dark brown; windows, same as siding or white; shutters, black, medium gray; door, gray or rose beige.

Dark Gray Siding — roof, black or charcoal; windows, white, never use siding color; shutters, yellow, blue, green, white, ochre, gold, yellow.

Dark Red Siding — roof, black, slate or charcoal; windows, white; shutters, white; door, white.

Dark Green Siding — roof, black, charcoal or dark green; windows, white; shutters, white; door, white or a blue-green.

Aluminum siding has a factory applied finish which keeps colors bright and attractive.

Install Your Own Carefree Flooring

To lay asphalt, vinyl or plastic tile on concrete only clay emulsion or the recommended adhesive is required. For a wood floor you need 15-pound asphalt felt paper and linoleum paste in addition to the adhesive.

If a wood underfloor is warped and obviously uneven, put a layer of quarter-inch plywood over it, nailing the plywood every 6 inches. Molding is removed from around the edge of the floor to allow tiles to go flush to the wall.

Laying the squares so that the pattern will come out even, and finishing at the walls is easy if you follow the makers' directions. Center of walls are found by measuring and a chalk line is snapped down the middle of the room in each direction. From this line a few tiles are laid in a dry run to see how much space is left.

Adjustments are then made to suit, and tiles are scored with an awl that comes with the kit.

LAUNDRY NOOK

from delicate to strongest agitation or any desired spin speed from gentle to normal. And there's the exclusive Mini-Basket for delicate baby things or lingerie, left-over loads, even stuffed animals, using less water and detergent.

The dryer performs almost magically with its sensor that determines automatically when clothes are perfectly dried. The homemaker has only to push one button to select the degree of dryness she desires for the type of fabric in the dryer and the machine does the rest. Washer and dryer come in white, are also available in harvest, avocado and copper-tone.

Moving May Entail Emotional Changes

Subscribe to the local newspaper. This is an excellent way to acquaint yourself with the city government, the cultural and club activities, and the merchants in your new hometown. You will find that the personality of the town is mirrored in the local newspaper.

Long before the telephone company started extolling the advantages of letting your fingers do the walking through the yellow pages, newcomers in town learned what a rich source of information their telephone directory is. Where else can you find so much detail on what the town has to offer, all alphabetized.

High on the lists of firsts after your move is finding a doctor and dentist. It is wise to ask your present physician and dentist if they can recommend counterparts in your new town. Otherwise, inquire of neighbors or have your husband ask his coworkers. At least be aware of several names so that if an emergency arises you are not at a complete loss.

Again, your present clergyman may be able to advise you about churches in your new community. If you have been a churchgoer, it is important to start attending services immediately after your move. The familiar patterns of your life should go on without interruption.

TAKE INITIATIVE

Finally, the move has become an accomplished fact. Thanks to your careful preparations, the family is reestablishing its roots. Your husband is caught up in the challenge of his new job and is meeting new people as a matter of course. The children have made friends in the neighborhood and at school. As for you, the last curtain has been hung, the new house is cleaned to your specifications and everything is in its place. Now you feel a little pang when you look at the silent phone and realize that you can't call a neighborhood friend for a breezy chat. You feel a cold loneliness when you glance out the window and see unfamiliar surroundings. After all the physical effort and mental concern involved in the move, you are caught up in a period of mild depression. Accept it as a normal byproduct of moving, but don't nurture your blues. If you are a club-woman, now is the time to join some group. Don't wait to be asked. Probably there is a new-comer's club or the YWCA, the PTA or church groups will welcome you with open arms. In these organizations, you can take the initiative without fear of being pushy. If you don't like club work, then consider something creative. Find a ceramic studio, or an art class or take a sewing course, anything that will catch you up in the life of the new community.

Soon your telephone will be ringing and your engagement book will be full of dates to remember. Your move can be an enriching experience if you give a little extra thought and effort to it. Moving is a great adventure!

So you're going to move—a decision made after long hours of discussion.

The physical aspects of moving are comparatively simple with today's professional movers, but there is a more subtle aspect of the move that rests squarely on your shoulders. For years mothers have counseled their daughters, "If your husband feels he will be happier in a new job, it is up to you to make the adjustment." And it is a cold hard fact that any move, be it your first or 10th, is an adjustment. Your attitude sets the emotional climate for the rest of the family.

WHAT'S UNUSUAL ABOUT THIS PICTURE? Believe it or not, the same fibre used to make the deep shag carpet is also used for all the new upholstery fabrics. The fibre is man-made Herculon polypropylene olefin, equally at home indoors — on the kitchen or living room floor, even on the bottom of the swimming pool — because it wears well, is colorfast and virtually impossible to stain. Tones of greens, golds, tangerines and neutrals are used on the sectional sleep sofas, walls, pillows, screen and cubes for seating and storage.

Camera Helps Insure Those Improvements

Fire, theft, accidents — unpleasant things, things that happen to the other fellow. Not always. They can happen to you. And claims following such catastrophes can be difficult to prove. Just how much DID you improve the game room before the fire? WAS the front walk in a dangerous condition? WAS the stolen silver really that valuable? Not pleasant subjects, but very important ones. And your camera can be your best friend in insurance and accident claims. The process is very simple: Photograph your home, as it stands and with emphasis on any additions. Photograph all — REALLY ALL — of your valuables. This means going from room to room to record furnishings; then concentrating on such things as furs, jewelry, silver, china, antiques, books, appliances. With such a pictorial inventory you have testimony — testimony which has been accepted by insurance firms — for your loss, should it occur. And with modern, easy-to-use cameras such as the Argus 270, you can increase the value of your household insurance for just pennies per item. One final precaution: When you have taken your photographs, mark each print with place and date, post them all to yourself VIA REGISTERED MAIL, leave the envelope unopened and put it in a safe place, away from home. An unopened registered letter carries weight — and an accurate date. Then, if necessary, you can prove your improvements!

You can wash flocked wall cloths

For lovers of the elegant in home decor, there is now a variety of flocked wall cloths which are both easy to apply and are soap-and-water washable. The patterns of some of the wall cloths are inspired by 16th century ecclesiastical robes, others by Far Eastern designs, early American motifs and floral designs. The color range in these cloths flocked with easy-care acrylic fiber is vast and varied, from such brilliant combinations as royal blue flock on an emerald green ground to an elegant and sophisticated white-on-white. These flocked cloths are pre-pasted so that they can just be dipped in water and smoothed on the wall. They are washable and will dry looking fresh and beautiful because the flock is of Crelian. Even stain-makers such as hair sprays, catsup, chocolate syrup, and coffee can be washed off without leaving a ring or marring the flocking. The Birge Company offers the flocked cloths.

Committee system confused, confusing

by FRANK HOWARD, M.P.

Our Committee system of the House is operating under such a full head of steam that it threatens to become thoroughly confused and confusing.

In fact Parliament made a rather unique order the other day. We decided that the House of Commons should not sit on Thursday, November 28th in order that the entire day could be set aside for Committee meetings.

Thursday, November 28th saw no less than twelve Committees scheduled for meetings with a total of sixteen meetings. This difference comes from the fact that some Committees had more than one meeting that day.

All of this is fine so far as it goes. It means that Members can study various matters with greater informality than is the case in the House. But, there are certain drawbacks that should be recognized and dealt with if this intense sort of Committee operation is to be expanded.

First, the Committees should have attached to them some research staff and facilities so that the examination can be based upon some reasoned knowledge of the particular subject.

Secondly, Committees should have the authority to initiate studies and examinations of particular subject and to initiate legislation so that they can be relatively free to operate. As it is now Committees can only deal with those matters which the House refers to them and because government has control over the business of the House it means that Committees are also controlled by government.

Even though the size of Committees has been somewhat reduced they are still too large and cumbersome. Their size should be reduced to at least half of what it is at the moment. This would mean that Committees would consist of ten to twelve people.

We have a rule now that any M.P., whether he is a member of the particular Committee or not, may attend and take part in the debate although he may not vote so the reduction in the size would not in any way impede anyone from having his say.

Thirdly, Committees should be able to influence government by they can influence government have some mechanization where they can influence government policy. As it is now Committees are largely educational for they only provide a less formal way of getting at certain information that is provided in the House itself. Perhaps this could be partly effected by the greater use of research staffs who could assist in preparing critiques of government policy so the Committee could make appropriate recommendations.

Fourthly, the practice whereby only Liberals are chosen as Chairmen of Committees should be discontinued. If Committees are to be freed from political control by the government the election of the Chairman should be based upon something other than purely partisan considerations.

Without reforms such as those mentioned here the Committee system of Parliament will operate somewhat in the same manner as it has in the past. It will provide government backbenchers with something to do. It will keep them busy without in any way providing an arrangement whereby government policy can be influenced.

Without an opportunity to influence government policy we tend towards more and greater authoritarianism, more and greater control by government over the parliamentary system, more and greater partisan politics and less and less real democracy.

How can we explain the sudden popularity of Seagram's 5 Star?

Easy.

Easy tasting. Easy to look at. And with the Seagram name on it. No wonder so many people are switching to 5 Star—gently blended for easy taste. Now that we've explained it, get the proof. That's the real easy part.

The Cost of the Programme . . .

A net amount not exceeding $3,214,300 estimated as follows:

Site purchase & development	$ 162,300
Buildings	2,638,500
Furnishings & Equipment	323,300
Plans & contingencies	290,200
	3,414,300
LESS: Indian Affairs Grant	200,000
	$3,214,300

The Reasons for the Programme . . .

WE HAVE ALMOST COMPLETED the programme planned to take care of the expansion to June, 1969. Enrolments have increased as expected, and some schools are already full.

BURSTING AT THE SEAMS AGAIN--WHY? Well, some rapid growth areas fill the classrooms as quickly as they are built; other schools have not been enlarged for several years, but either they are filled to capacity NOW, or will be by target dates.

YOUR SCHOOL PLANNING COMMITTEE has been accurately forecasting enrolments for years -- ensuring that the children are accommodated WITHOUT SHIFTING -- building enough classrooms but never too many. Now, once again, your Committee has estimated your essential needs for the immediate future, and the School Board is convinced that we MUST START NOW to prepare for next September.

AND WHO ELSE? The Department of Education (and we are at the level of sharing of capital costs where 90 cents in the dollar is raised by the Province of British Columbia); the Minister of Education and the Lieutenant-Governor in Council -- ALL HAVE CHECKED AND APPROVED the Board's own planning estimates.

How Will the Money Be Raised?

Debentures, repayable with interest over 20 years, will be issued to finance expenditures. Where the local share of capital debt exceeds 4½ mills (and ours DOES), the Province pays 90% of the excess, and WE PAY ONLY 10%.

Our CAPITAL repayment portion of the Annual Budget was 4.7 mills in 1956; in 1968 it was 4.9 mills, with very slight fluctuation in between. Our building programmes in that period have only increased the MILL RATE by 1/5 mill.

The raise in assessed values keeps pace with increased debenture requirements, and to the taxpayer A SCHOOL REFERENDUM DOES NOT NECESSARILY INCREASE SCHOOL TAXES.

Anglican Franciscan finds:

Cannibals eat right out of your hand

New Guinea cannibals consider the palm of the hand a great delicacy.

Authority for that is Brother Geoffrey whose distinctive Franciscan robes were seen in Terrace streets last week. He's been a missionary there since 1959, now heads the Anglican Franciscan province which covers Australia, New Guinea, the Solomon Islands and Tonga.

His congregation in New Guinea is not cannibal and the practice is dying out. But, according to Brother Geoffrey, even the converted get the urge now and again.

"I remember once that at least some members of the congregation were eyeing the bishop when he got up to preach," Brother Geoffrey recalled with a smile.

Brother Geoffrey was here in Terrace at the invitation of Rev. A.P. Horsfield and St. Matthew's parish. He met with local Anglicans to study a project for Christian renewal in the area.

He will later leave for England for a three-month visit before returning to New Guinea.

The New Guinea mission is close to the equator and the weather is hot and steamy.

Anglican Franciscans have built two churches there, a hostel, primary school and an employment agency for the Papuans. They also conduct a school to train native evangelists.

Brother Geoffrey decided to become a Franciscan while studying for the Anglican ministry at Cambridge University. He said his community was started in 1921, now has some 150 members in three areas of the world. In New Guinea, the friars try to live the same life as the natives.

"We are trying to live the native life as closely as we can," Brother Geoffrey said.

"We eat the Papuan vegetables." But he explained that it wasn't too practical for Europeans to follow their diet completely.

He reported that native Papuans, Solomon Islanders, and Tonganese had joined his religious community.

The friars model themselves on the thirteenth century Italian saint, Francis of Assisi, who followed a life of complete poverty modelled on the life of Christ.

Brother Geoffrey said he felt the Franciscan way of life was still relevant. "Francis has a great attraction," he said. "Many people see this as a part of Christian Witness."

Kitimat gets dial telephone

KITIMAT — Dial telephone service began in Kitimat at 11:01 P.M. Saturday, November 30.

On the same evening, a brand new primary toll centre went into operation at Terrace to bring improvements in long distance service for Terrace, Kitimat, and surrounding areas.

Stan Patterson, B.C. Telephone's Terrace District Manager, said the two projects represent an investment of nearly $2 million in new facilities.

In Kitimat itself, some $750,000 has been invested during the last 18 months to enlarge the telephone building, install an automatic switching system, construct related distribution facilities and provide customers with dial telephones.

The dial system will serve about 3,700 telephones at the time of the conversion and has been built to provide for expansion to meet foreseeable future telephone requirements.

Kitimat customers have had a manual telephone service through a common battery telephone exchange. All calls — local and long distance — were placed through operators at a central switchboard.

With the conversion to dial service, Kitimat customers will be able to dial local calls directly. By next April, they also will be able to dial long distance calls directly.

In the meantime, they will place long distance calls by dialing "Operator."

Mr. Patterson said a comprehensive test of the new automatic switching system currently is under way to assure that customer switching and alarm equipment is working at the high standards required before the new facilities are placed into service.

At the same time, arrangements have been made for immediate checks of police, fire, medical and other safety agency numbers at the time of the cut-over.

Would you believe a psaltery band?

By LAURIE ENGLISH
Did you ever hear of a Psaltery Band? We have one in Terrace and it may be the only one of its kind in Canada.

The Psaltery is a stringed instrument dating back to biblical times. It was introduced in Terrace by Robert Spears who recently started to build the instruments.

He started the band to test out the instruments and to introduce them to the Terrace area.

Spears said he first discovered the instrument in Germany several years ago while he was there studying piano construction.

"I was intrigued by the unusual tone of the instrument," he said.

Then earlier this year,
Spears said he was talking to Carl Pezak, who is a carpenter, about the instrument and they decided to try building them.

"We are still doing a lot of experimental work with them to find the best woods and the best size to produce the best sound."

Spears said they are making the instruments in three sizes right now, a two foot soprano, a three foot alto and a four foot tenor.

"We are also considering making a six foot bass instrument," he said.

The Psaltery has 26 or 27
strings, depending on the size of the instrument and is played either by plucking or with a bow similar to a violin.

The instruments are constructed from a combination of spruce, ash, mahogany, teak and maple woods.

"As far as I know, the instruments we are making are the only ones of this kind available in Canada," Spears said.

Spears said music isn't available for the instrument so he has also been adapting music to be used with it. He has designed a color code which he uses on both the instrument and the written music to simplify the teaching process.

The Psaltery Band, composed of 17 youngsters who are instructed by Spears, plan to show off their new instruments and skill at playing them at a concert at Skeenview hospital sometime in December.

Spears said they also plan to participate in other programs before Christmas.

The instruments will also be displayed for sale in stores in Terrace.

In addition to making the Psaltery Spears tunes and restores pianos. He also has a class of youngsters taking piano lessons.
